DANIELS PRAISES SERVICE OF SIMS AS SHORE OFFICER

Answers Admirals Criticisms of Medal Awards at Hearing.

DECLARES SHIP OFFICERS MUST DECIDE QUICKLY

Have No Time to Weigh Decision Carefully When Attacked.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Taking up the contention of Rear Admiral William S. Sims, in the matter of naval medal awards point by point, Secretary Daniels in his appearance today before the senate investigation sub-committee took direct and emphatic issue with the admiral. Flanked by voluminous records from the navy department, the secretary went into detail in explaining changes he made in conferring decorations as recommended by the commanding officers of the navy and by the Knight board of medals awards.

The naval secretary outlined to the committee the two chief differences between his views and the views held by Admiral Sims in the awarding of medals. These were a variance as to the importance of service at sea compared with service on shore and differences on the question of whether a distinguished service medal should be awarded under any circumstances to a commander of a ship sunk or seriously damaged by enemy submarines or mines.

Asserting that Admiral Sims, while on shore duty both in the Spanish-American and World War "demonstrated ability of a high order," Secretary Daniels said, "the position of Rear Admiral Sims in placing shore duty above sea duty in the danger zone is, no doubt, influenced by his own record." Figures were presented by Mr. Daniels showing that during the last 25 years Admiral Sims had served about 15 years on shore duty and nine years at sea.

"So rarely did he take a sea trip," said the secretary referring to the admiral's work as commander of the United States naval forces in European water, "that in his book he tells a story of one of the few times he was afloat, going with the British admiral who had been placed by Rear Admiral Sims in command of the American destroyers based on Queenstown.

"As justifying his contention that individual duties ashore are necessarily of secondary importance to duties afloat, Mr. Daniels asserted:

"On shore a man decides important questions in the quiet of office surroundings with time to weigh the pros and cons, and if he makes a mistake his error of decision is not immediately followed by disastrous results. At sea, particularly in submarine warfare, the commander, like all his men, is in imminent peril of death. He must make momentous decisions in the flash of a single moment, ofter when his ship has been attacked, and when coolness and poise are necessary to save the lives of scores and hundreds of men. A mistake in this emergency is fatal to an officer in command at sea."

With this as an impelling reason the secretary said he disapproved of the disparity between honors to men ashore and afloat as recommended by the Knight board and accordingly reduced or eliminated a number of awards for shore service.

In support of his contention that a commander of a ship sunk or damaged by submarine attack was entitled to a medal if he showed proper qualifications, even though the ship was unable to combat the submarine, Secretary Daniels cited numerous examples in American naval history and also pointed to instances of such awards by the French government during the World War. American naval history, he told the committee, was filled with precedent upholding his action in awarding the distinguished service medal to commanders of ships sunk by submarine or mines.

"In the Stiletto attack of submarine warfare," said Mr. Daniels, "it is not the fact that a man strikes or is struck that tests true mettle and true naval leadership. The question is: does he play the part of the man, with chivalry and thought only of others and of his country, and has he by preparation and foresight done all that is possible to meet any and every emergency. And when he faces a court of his brother officers, do they find that he has measured up in the terrible ordeal to the high naval traditions? Admirals Mayo and Gleaves and Vice Admiral Grant recommended commanding officers under them for distinguished service medals who displayed these high qualities when their ships, struck by mines and torpedoes, were sunk or damaged. The board of awards approved their recommendations. The greatest thing that a man ever does in this world is to turn a stumbling block into a stepping stone. If medals are not given for this sort of noble courage and coolness and direction in supreme danger, what on earth are they designed for?"

Referring to Admiral Sims statement that he had not recommended any enlisted men for medals because "we had nothing to give them" the secretary called the committee's attention to the act creating the awards which he said made no discrimination between an admiral, captain and enlisted man.

"It is the service he renders, the service in peril, and not his rank that counts," he added.

Referring to the bestowal of the distinguished service medal on Admiral Benson because of his services as chief of naval operations, Mr. Daniels declared he would give the same medal "that goes to that great and distinguished officer to the humblest sailor lad, who when placed in a position of great responsibility in a time that tested the stuff of what man is made of, met the demands of those duties and placed his life in jeopardy in order that his ship and the lives of others might be preserved."

With that in mind, he ordered further study of navy records when he found that only 119 enlisted men of the 500,000 in the navy during the war had been recommended for any high honor, he explained. As the result of this study as yet uncomplete he said 13 additional enlisted men were awarded the distinguished service medal and 68 more men were put on the list for navy crosses.

Emphatic denial was made by the secretary of Admiral Sims' statement that the policy followed in awarding medals had "shot to pieces" the navy's morale.

It is an insult to the splendid men of the navy to say that the morale of the service could be seriously impaired by any question of awards to individuals," the secretary said on that point.

"They are made of sterner stuff than to be rattled by a matter so unimportant in comparison with their devotion to their duties. Their loyalty is in no sense dependent upon medals."

Explaining Admiral Sims' mention of a message from the secretary asking what recommendation had been made for "Bagley (Mr. Daniels' brother-in-law) and other officers of the Jacob Jones and other destroyers that were attacked," Mr. Daniels said the note was written late one afternoon after all officers in charge of reports had left the department and was written as the easiest way of getting the information. There was not at that time and never has been, Mr. Daniels declared, any question of favoritism or relationship in the matter of his relations with Commander Bagley.

Mr. Daniels said he had no criticism of the work of the board of awards headed by Rear Admiral Austin M. Knight and that its recommendations were faithfully made on the basis of the meager information in its possession.

"While Admiral Sims recommended young officers who served well in minor posts for distinguished service medals and every other flag officer under his command for the same honor," said Mr. Daniels, "he omitted that distinguished admiral who commanded all American naval forces off the French coast, Rear Admiral Wilson, now commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet."

"When the history of the war is written, Admiral Wilson's service will stand a shigh as that of Sims, Mayo, Benson, and Rodman."

When it was decided to appoint Admiral Wilson commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, Secretary Daniels said Admiral Sims wrote a letter of protest. Characterizing the contemplated appointment as a "very grave mistake indeed," the letter called Secretary Daniels' attention to the "trouble Admiral Wilson gave me in the discharge of my duties."

"I attempted to correct it by personal letters," Admiral Sims' letter said. "Admiral Wilson criticized not only this organization but me personally, including that most destructive of all criticisms, the impugning of motives."

PATRIOTISM OF NEWBERRY CITED BY HIS COUNSEL

Defense Will Allege That Michigan Laws Were Not Broken.

COMPARES WAR RECORD WITH THAT OF OPPONENT

Jury Is Told That Newberry Entered Service Without Delay.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 3.—Truman H. Newberry entered the 1918 senatorial campaign in Michigan at the solicitation of others and not in furtherance of a scheme to get a seat in the senate, said James O. Murfin, of Detroit, in outlining to the jury in United States district court the attitude the defense will assume toward the charges of conspiracy and fraud for which 123 men are on trial.

Judge Murfin explained the defense's view of the specific details of the offences charged in the six counts of the indictment, emphasizing that conspiracy is the essence of the charges.

It was pointed out that on the first four counts "the gist of the charge is not fraud in the eletcion, corruption in the election, or anything of that description, but that these respondents are charged with conspiring to aid, abet, assist and encourage Truman H. Newberry to commit an offence, to wit: The offense of expending more of his money than the law allows." It was further argued that "under the Michigan law, as long as expenses come within the eleven enumerated classes in the statute, there is no limit as to the amount o fmoney a committee of a candidate's friends can spend in his behalf.

"It is my purpose," Judge Murfin told the jurors, "to point out to you in exact detail everything that was done by anybody connected with this campaign in order that you may understand it in its infinite detail. The campaign was unusually hot and in analyzing what these respondents did, the atmosphere under which they did it should be considered.

"Our country was at war; as the campaign began to liven up we had just passed our first year of participation and the situation was critical in the extreme. The fate of the civilized world was hanging in the balance with the last German drive at its height, the channel ports threatened and the German advance armies within 30 miles of Paris.

"The records will show that Michigan sent to this war 150,000 young men in the army, navy and marine corps; they left behind them fathers, relatives and friends. Americanism and patriotic excitement were at their very crest.

"While there had been rumors in Michigan that Henry Ford would be a candidate for the senate, his candidacy was actually announced on June 14, 1918. 'Rightly or wrongly—and this is neither the time nor the place to discuss it—there was a very general feeling that Mr. Ford did not represent the type of American who, at that critical juncture, should represent his state in the United States senate. Rightly or wrongly many people remembered his campaign against military preparedness. Many people remembered his well meant misguided efforts to bring about what now appears would have been a German peace. Many people were bitter over the fact that he was not active in the war and that none of his family had become active in the war.

"On the other hand, Commander Newberry had had an honorable record in the Spanish-American war, when in the navy, he was under fire and actively participated in overcoming a superior force. He had been secretary of the navy in the cabinet of that militant American, Theodore Roosevelt.

"Within 48 hours after our country threatened to enter the world war he volunteered and, in the spring of 1917, was commissioned a lieutenant commander and made aide to the commandant of the third naval district at New York. His brother and his two sons were also in military service."

QUITS SLEUTHING FOR CROOKS, DISCOVERS NEW GAS

Walter E. Karnes at his new gas generating apparatus and illustrating one of the advantages of his new gas.

Walter E. Karnes of Cincinnati, formerly a private detective, has evolved a new kind of gas which he says can be manfuactured safely in the private home at a cost less, per thousand feet, than the present price of natural gas. The gas is generated from calcium carbide, ordinary baking powder and wood alcohol. Karnes, with ordinary tumblers, demonstrates how his gas generates practically no heat and leaves no residue.

WAR VETERAN IS KILLED IN FALL

Ex-Rainbow Division Man Plunges 45 Feet From Scaffold at Weiant Greenhouse—Dies in Hospital.

Raymond Paulson, 23, died at the City Hospital at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, just 30 minutes after he fell 45 feet from a scaffolding at the Weiant greenhouse, east of the city.

The scaffolding did not break, but Paulson seemed to lose his balance and plunged the length of the structure.

His hip was broken, a wrist fractured and he was internally injured, suffering from internal hemorrhages. The Bradley ambulance removed him to the City Hospital where Drs. H. J. Davis and Leland Baxter attended him. He never regained consciousness.

The deceased was a veteran of the world war and a member of the local post of the American Legion. He served for 15 months in France with Company B, 166th infantry of the Rainbow division. Last February he returned to this country as a casual, suffering from gas and shell shock.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Paulson, of 162 James street, and lived with his wife, formerly Miss Ava Nutter, in Boylston avenue.

He is survived by his wife, his parents, two brothers, William Paulson, of Monroe avenue and Newton Paulson, of 16th street.

MAY SEIZE MAN'S TROUSERS IF HE CARRIES FLASK IN HIP POCKET

Chicago, Feb. 3.—The United States district court will be asked to decide whether the trousers of Charles N. Thomas, Chicago bank president, are a "vehicle" and if they are, whether they should be confiscated by the government and sold at auction.

Mr. Thomas was arrested Saturday night in a cabaret when he produced a bottle of liquor from his hip pocket and concocted high balls for himself and three companions.

Federal prohibition agents who made the arrest maintain the use of the hip pocket to carry liquor makes Mr. Thomas' trousers a vehicle within the meaning of the dry law and that the garment is subject to seizure and sale.

Mr. Thomas is president of the Commonwealth Trust and Security company.

Decision in the case will affect carriers of hip pocket flasks throughout the country.

HEALTH BOARD IS NAMED UNDER NEW LAW; WILL ORGANIZE AT ONCE

Appointments Made By Mayor H. A. Atherton Are Confirmed By Council—Committee Will Not Recommend Increase For Teamsters For City.

Newark has a new board of health, its personnel being Robert A. Crawford, Charles O'Bannon, Dr. S. C. Priest, A. L. Thomas of the Postal Printing company and Dr. A. E. Best, each to serve from one to five years in the order named. The appointments were made by Mayor H. A. Atherton and confirmed by the city council at a regular meeting held last evening. The board will meet at once and elect a commissioner of health, meat and food inspector and sanitary officer.

Council did not meet until 8:30 o'clock, being in caucus and consultation with the proposed new members of the health board until that hour.

A special committee consisting of Messrs. Baxter, Redman and Baker to whom was referred the proposition of acceptance or refusal of the property in Spring street bequeathed to the city by May Miller, reported having gone over the will carefully and that the property can only be conveyed to the city upon the death of Mrs. Miller's daughter, Mrs. Bertha Mullinex, and that if city accepts same under the will, within a reasonable time thereafter the city must erect and maintain a children's hospital, else it reverts to the estate of Mrs. Bertha Mullinex. As there is no expense in the acceptance of the property at this time the committee recommended that the city solicitor prepare the necessary papers of acceptance of the property at this time the committee recommended that the city solicitor prepare the necessary papers of acceptance by the city. The property consists of an eight-room house and an acre of ground.

The special committee in the matter of paving Merchant street, between Eleventh and Thirteenth streets reported having met with the property owners along the thoroughfare and that there was only one objector present. The committee recommended that the street be paved with alsphaltic concrete.

The public service committee refused to recommend an increase of $2 per day requested by teamsters employed by the city. The committee pointed out that August and the new increase would an increase of $1.60 was granted last make $3.60 per day increase in six months.

The committee suggested that the city buy an additional team and do its own hauling. It was pointed out that a small tract of land leased on shares last year produced about 350 bushels of corn for the city's share, worth $500. The committee recommended that more land be leased to produce grain for the teams. It was also suggested that two trucks might be purchased to take care of street work. The committee declared that the matter of recommending an increase was up to the service director.

The mayor's report for January showed that $165 had been collected in licenses, theaters, peddling and transient dealers.

The director of public service reported his approval of plans and specifications for a sewage system and disposal plant, prepared by Barber & Bradbury, consulting engineers. In his report Director Wilson stated that the plans were very comprehensive, covering every street now sewered and the sizes of sewers are sufficient to permit of the extension to territory adjoining the present corporation line which it is proposed to annex to the city. The disposal plant would be located east of the city along the Licking river. The estimate of the cost of the entire system, including sewers on every street is $804,783. The estimate of the cost of the disposal plant is $128,656, or a total of $933,439. The report concluded that after the plans have been approved by the state commissioner of health, the city council may conclude what part of the system shall be constructed from time to time as the development of the city warrants.

A petition of property owners of East street requested relief from the flooding of that street by the Ohio Power company. The petition stated that the company has raised the land on which the plant is located and as a consequence the water drains into the street, flooding it and making it impassable.

Residents of Merchant street between Tenth and Thirteenth street petitioned council to improve that thor-

LEGION TEAMS SIGN UP 250

Team Captains Make Reports at Meeting Held Monday Evening—Membership Drive Continues.

More than 250 members have been added to the American Legion through the membership drive which is being made by ten teams and which will continue through this week. Although team captains apparently are withholding complete reports, officials of the legion declare that 150 paid up members have been secured and more than 100 have signed cards, declaring their intention to join.

Team captains made reports last night. Clarence Jones' team is leading with 50 members to its credit. The Hawkins-Dolan team is next with 20 signed up.

A conference following the report of the teams revealed the fact that only petty excuses were keeping the world war veterans from joining the legion. Some ex-service men declined to join because they didn't get across. One was laboring under the mistaken idea that the legion was started by the Y. M. C. A.

ASSEMBLY WILL CONCLUDE WORK AT END OF WEEK

Abandon Plan to Recall Solons In April To Finish Work.

WILL COMPLETE LEGISLATION ON TAXATION QUESTIONS

Both Houses Will Adjourn Sine Die According to Present Plans.

Columbus, Feb. 3.—The Ohio legislature will adjourn sinedie this week, leaders declared today. Plans to recess again at the end of this week's session until late in April in order to give the committee on administrative reorganization further time to make a study of state government have practically been abandoned, it was announced.

Adoption of a resolution to resubmit a classification tax amendment to the constitution and a debt limitation proposal were the most important tax measures before the assembly this week. The new class tax proposal differs from the one submitted to the voters last November and defeated by an overwhelming majority in that it fixes a limit on the tax rate at 15 mills. No limitation was provided on the former amendment.

No attempt will be made to pass the Gardner bill over the governors veto, should Governor Cox decide to veto this measure, it is said. This bill, which authorizes local taxing districts upon a vote of the people to levy sinking fund and interest charges of the 15 mill limitation of the Smith law, was expected to reach the governor today. The temporary relief bill authorizing cities to issue short term notes to provide for 1920 operating deficits, was also expected to reach the governor today.

Should the legislature adjourn sine die this week without passing an income tax law or resubmitting a classification amendment, taxation will become the leeading issue of the next state campaign, in the opinion of political leaders here today.

L. J. Taber, master of the State Grange has already declared it to be the intention of rural leaders to carry the taxation fight before the people and elect a new legislature next fall pledged to a definite taxation program, including an income tax and laws for the listing of intangible wealth.

The joint legislative committee on state employes salaries was preparing to recommend for passage today several of the revenue measures which it has proposed to meet salary increases.

Senator William Miller, chairman of the committee, said the committee probably would report out the bill to license wholesale and retail druggists and charge them a $5 fee; the bill to tax mineral production, the measure to tax commercial motor trucks as public utilities and bill to increase dealers license on cigaretts.

Representatives of wholesale and retail groceries associations and flavoring extract manufacturers appeared before the committee yesterday and again this morning to protest against the measure to license retail drug stores because it gives to druggists a monopoly on certain household remedies, proprietary medicines, cosmetics and favoring extracts.

F. L. Beggs, Newark, flavoring extract manufacturer, J. D. Millar contracting retail grocers and Attorney F. M. Raymond, J. W. Blue, and Karl Kumler, entered vigorous against the druggists license bill.

Attorney Raymond, charged Senator Miller with attempting to have passed a prohibition measure under the guise of a revenue measure. He said it was an attempt to limit sale of flavoring extracts to druggists because they would be licensed. Flavoring extracts all contain a large per centage of alcohol. Senator Miller was chairman of the temperance committee in the senate.

Ohio coal producers protested to the committee against the passage of the proposed mineral tax, declaring it would be unfair to place such a tax on mineral production. They said it would place Ohio coal producers at still further disadvtage in competing with West Virginia.

Both the house and senate were scheduled to meet at 1:30 o'clock today.

KIWANIANS WILL HONOR SOLDIERS

Club Votes to Attend Public Meeting at High School On Washington's Birthday.

Honoring those who paid the supreme sacrifice in the Great War, the Kiwanis club voted at its noonday luncheon Monday to attend in a body the public services to be held in the Auditorium theater under the auspices of the American Legion on the afternoon of Washington's birthday, February 22. The Kiwanis club also voted to attend the Taxpayers' League meeting to be held at the courthouse Friday evening.

It was also unanimously agreed yesterday to heartily approve of the Boy Scout "Good Turn" week and Kiwanians are to wear the insignia for this week.

In the attendance contest, the Rainbow division under the direction of Dr. E. V. Pryor, is leading the Buckeye cohorts under Earl Woodward, by a slight margin. Guests introduced yesterday were M. E. Chenoweth, of Watertown, Mass., John Voglegesang, of Canton, Dr. Stewart Sedgwick, of Newark, and Aden Smith, state inspector of plumbing.

O. D. Hollar was the silent booster. His gift was certain bathroom adornments. The lucky number was drawn by Dr. E. V. Pryor.

An inter-club relations committee composed of the following members was appointed by the president, C. L. Wyeth: Rev. G. B. Schmitt, Fletcher Scott and Dan Simpson. The following members were reported ill: George Weaver, J. M. Passman, J. C. McFarland, Harry Pierce and W. H. Wigton.

Aden Smith, chief of the plumbing department of Ohio, in a brief talk explained that Newark had no municipal plumbing ordinance and necessarily must follow the state's regulations. The law provides that each city must have a plumbing ordinance equal to that of the state. He explained that bad plumbing was a big factor in the spread of disease.

"Cities can make a plumbing inspector department self-sustaining by the collection of a small fee," Mr. Smith said.

Mayor Atherton submitted the names of five members for the health board. As each member's term expires an appointment will again be made the member to serve fro a term of five years. The new board was confirmed by council and the regular order of business was resumed.

WHAT IS THE SUN?—BELIEFS IN 2020.

BY A LAYMAN

A layman of ordinary intelligence and education asks a layman of similar intellectual equipment, living one hundred years hence, a series of questions regarding prevalent beliefs among intelligent people of that coming day and age. Following are the questions and replies:

"What is your opinion of the sun?"

"It is a huge electrical furnace generating its own electricity. It is also the source of light."

"Is it also a source of heat? Don't the sun's rays warm the earth?"

"Yes, but not directly and they are not rays of heat, as you have been taught and probably believe. We believe in fact we know, that such a thing is impossible."

"Why impossible?"

"Because we know enough of the laws of heat to know that heat no matter how intense it may be at its source could not pass through the 90,000,000 miles of ether between the sun and the earth, which is as much colder than ice as ice is colder than hot water. To believe that heat from the sun can warm the earth directly is as contrary to intelligent reason as to believe that the heat from a huge campfire on an island in an inland lake surrounded by a wall of ice a mile thick could warm people living outside the wall."

"How then does the sun warm the earth?"

"By electricity. The sun generates and sends out both light and electricity. They travel at about the same speed, but neither is heat. Light passes through both the ether and blanket of atmosphere supposed to be forty or fifty miles thick, which surrounds the earth, without obstruction. Ether offers no resistance to the electric current, but the atmosphere does. It is not a good conductor of electricity. The friction caused by the struggle of the electric current to reach the earth through the atmosphere heats the air and warms the earth."

"Can you illustrate this by something with which we are familiar?"

"Yes the intense white electric light in the glass bulb which lights your room is produced by friction just as is the warmth of the atmosphere. Two copper wires, copper being a good conductor of electricity, pass into and out of the glass bulb. They are connected by very small platinum wire, which is not a good conductor. The electric current, in its struggle to pass through this poor conductor and reach the earth by the return copper wire, creates both intense heat and intense light. While the light can be seen for miles, the heat penetrates the atmosphere only a few inches. Fifty of them could not heat an ordinary room. Another illustration is that wood, especially when green, is a better conductor for electric current than air. Hence electricity in the form of lightning often strikes trees and sometimes houses. The latter being dry, are likely to be set on fire by the friction."

"Why is it that the tropics near the seashore the air may be uncomfortably warm or even hot, while the not distant mountains are covered with snow?"

"Because of the difference in the thickness of the blanket of atmosphere which covers the earth. At the seashore surface the blanket is thick, on high mountains the blanket is thin and offers less resistance to the electric current from the sun to the earth, hence less friction and less heat. Exactly the opposite is true at the ocean level.

"Why is it colder in the north temperate zone in the winter than in the summer?"

Because the electric current from the sun to the earth is less direct. It seeks the earth by the shortest route, and much of it is drawn off to the south of us before it reaches our latitude. For substantially the same reason the air in our longitude is colder in the morning and evening than at noon."

"We were taught in the 19th century and so far in this, that while Mars and possibly Venus might be inhabited by beings constituted physically like ourselves, that life similar to ours would be impossible on Mercury and Jupiter; Mercury because it would be too hot, being so much nearer the sun and Jupiter too cold because it is too far away. What is your belief in the 21st century?"

"I have seen those textbooks: they are still to be found in our libraries, but their teaching is discarded. Believing, as we do, that earth's heat is produced by friction generated by the electric current passing through the earth's blanket of atmosphere, we reason that so far as heat is concerned all the change the Almighty would have to make in any or all of the planets in the Solar system would be to give to each its proper thickness of atmospheric blanket."

"How about the moon?"

"The moon is cold because it has no atmosphere. The same is probably true of the moons of Jupiter."

BASEBALLERS TO GET EARLY START

Already Talk of Sport Lovers Turns to Revival of Twilight League of Last Summer.

The call of baseball, the king of summer sports, is in the air. "It looks like a great season of baseball is before us," said Industrial Secretary Grieser of the Y. M. C. A. The success of the main feature of the Industrial basket-ball league, that of playing full time employes, is more than likely to govern the baseball situation this summer, Grieser believes. Other questions relative to the operation of the 1920 Twilight baseball league are undoubtedly already being rought up for discussion among the followers of the baseball game.

There was some talk at the close of last season of moving the baseball diamond, but no action had been taken. Just how many teams are expected to take part in the league this summer Grieser was unable to say, but rivalry will start from the opening game. No date has been set for a meeting of the managers and others interested in baseball but it is likely that the baseball bugs will gather about the middle of this month. A definite date will be announced later.

OWENS FARM WILL BE SOLD IN SMALL TRACTS

O. G. Warrington has acquired the Frank Owens farm just east of Newark, and will survey the tract this week, to divide it into ten 10 acre home sites which will be placed on the market at once.

The farm consists of 105 acres and under the plan of subdividing it, each home site will be crossed with a stream of spring water. The land will be within five minutes walk of the site of the Halliday Motor Car company's plant. Warrington states that he proposed to market the land at farm land prices. A deferred payment plan will make the proposition attractive to the small investor, Warrington pointed out.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

"Going Up" Tonight.

A riot of fun, a feast of music and a bewitching bevy of feminine beauty is the promise of Cohan and Harris whose production "Going Up" which scored such a wonderful success during its two long years at the Liberty theater, New York, will be the attraction at the Auditorium tonight. "Going Up" is a big musical comedy by Otto Harbach and James Montgomery, who wrote the book and lyrics and Louis A. Horsch composed the music.

Here is a musical play that is a positive delight from start to finish, to say nothing of its equipment of song hits, of which there are upward of a dozen that will keep you whistling their melodies and dancing to their rhythm for months to come.

Perhaps the biggest hit in "Going Up" is the Tickle-Toe" song and dance, this number took six and eight encores nightly during its run in New York. Almost as big a sensation is 'I Want a Determined Boy." However, in a musical play that contains such entrancing numbers as "If You Look In Her Eyes," "The Touch of a Woman's Hand," "Do It for Me," and 'When the Curtain Falls" it is difficult to determine which is the most popular.

The leading singing and comedy roles have been placed in the hands of an efficient cast, headed by Jack Mack, others being Beatrice, Burrows, Raymond Ellis, Therese Josephs, Lillian Raymond, Hilda Johnson, George Phelps, Harry McCoy, Dan Marble and Arthur Cunningham. Seats now selling.

"Red Head."

Manager Fenberg makes a special announcement in connection with the showing of 'Red Head" a select picture playing the Auditorium tomorrow in which Alice Brady is the star. Every red head in town will be admitted to the matiness free and the lady having the reddest hair will receive a nice hat free of charge "Red Head" is a good photoplay and Miss Brady is at her best in this feature.

ALHAMBRA.
"Experimental Marriage."

In Constance Talmadge's latest Select picture, "Experimental Marriage," in which she is presented by Lewis J. Selznick, every member of the supporting cast has been wisely chosen and each is exactly suited to the part he or she portrays, and is considered an artist and one of the leaders in his or her particular line of work.

Constance Talmadge as Suzanne Ercoll, a charming young widow, is, as usual, superb in her characterization of the role. Se is vibrantly alive and pulsates with the joy and abandon of youth.

Harrison Ford again plays opposite Miss Talmadge. He has the role of Foxcroft Grey, a young atorney who convinces his wife of the folly of her three-day-a-week marriage idea. He is manly, handsome and clever in his characterization of the role entrusted to him and his splendid portrayal does much to assure the success of the picture

Walter Hier, as Charlie Hamilton, Foxy's friend, will be remembered as the comical fat boy who has caused much laughter in recent light comedy productions and alos in Select's patriotic special attraction, "Over There."

Edythe Chapman renders a splendid characterization as the mother of the foolish young wife. She is conceded to be one of the leading character women of the day.

Raymond Hatton as Arthur Barnard, the trusting friend of whose simplicity Suzanne takes advantage, also affords many amusing moments for the spectator. Mayin Kelso plays the part of a suffrage leader and in this role she is a "scream."

"Experimental Marriage" is an adaptation of the stage play, "Saturday to Monday," by William J. Hurlbut. Robert G. Vignola directed the picture. The scenario was written by Alice Eyton and Frank E. Garbutt is responsible for the splendid photography. It is seen today at the Alhambra.

"Flare Up Sal."

The Alhambra tomorrow offers Dorothy Dalton in the Paramount picture "Flare Up Sal," with a cast of players directed by William C. DeMille. This feature runs two days and is said to be one of the best that Miss Dalton has appeared in for quite some time. When shown at the Colonial at Columbus a short time ago, capacity crowds said it was the best ever.

Added features are promised together with a most pleasing program on the Seeberg Organ by Miss Kunkle, the organist of that house.

"Toby's Bow."

"I thank my role in Toby's Bow" is very well suited to my weaknesses of character," says Tom Moore, the Goldwyn star, reviewing his own latest production. 'All of us are more or less prone to do an occasional good piece of work and then sit back and rest a time on the laurels won. Now in "Toby's Bow," Tom Blake, the character I play, has written a book which has had great success. For five years after that, Blake doesn't care a continental whether school keeps or not. He keeps up a semblance of work by living in a studio in the Greenwich artist quarter of New York but his evenings are spent with convivial souls at "The Purple Pup," a smoke hung little drinking house, or at the studio of his friends. Now, isn't that true of human nature? I think Blake was a typical young man, full of fun, good natured and care-free as long as his money lasted and without a thought in the world for his wasted talents.

"In my own life I find the same sort of temptation staring me in the face. If I play a part well and turn out a particularly good picture, I feel as if a spell of utter laziness was due me I have to make an unusual effort to go right on doing better work than I have done before.

"Toby's Bow" will be shown at the Alhambra theater, beginning Friday.

GRAND.
Alice Joyce.

How an adroitly evil tongue can work the destruction of many lives is demonstrated in a dramatic fashion by Vitagraph's new picture, "The Vengeance of Durand." This production, in which Alice Joyce takes the stellar role, will be shown at the Grand theater today and Wednesday.

Armand La Farge, villain of the photoplay, employs the evil tongue. With deft word and smile bestowed here and there this creature incites others to violent jealousy. The tremendous emotion produced in Henri Durand, an aristocratic Frenchman, brings about the dramatic climax of the play, a startling revenge.

In addition there will be shown Gale Henry in a comedy, "Ham and"

Thursday and Friday Margarita Fisher in "the Hellion," and a comedy by Hall Room Boys, "Almost Heroes."

Everyone will get a grab at Haynes Bros. Jewelry store Saturday for 35c. 2-3-1t

GOLDWYN PICTURES

THE quality of a theatrical entertainment is usually gaged by its reception in New York and the length of its run in that metropolis Guided by this rule, our first choice falls on "Going Up," a musical comedy, book and lyrics by Otto Harbach and James Montgomery, the music by Louis A. Hirsch, which is shortly to be presented in this city.

"Going Up" is now on tour after a phenomenal run in New York, where critics and public alike raved over it for nearly a year

The distinguishing features of "Going Up" are a well told and coherent story, catchy music, wholesome fun and the general excellence of its company and chorus and for these qualities and the success that has attended its presentation elsewhere "Going Up" is cheerfully recommended.

WAR RISK INSURANCE.

To relieve any confusion that may exist in the minds of former service men on account of the special provision of lapsed War Term Insurance which authorized reinstatement up to December 31, 1919, regardless of date of discharge, announcement is made by Director R. G. Cholmeley-Jones of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance that the provisions for reinstatement of lapsed or canceled insurance, within 18 months from date of discharge, upon payment of only two months' premiums on the amount of insurance to be reinstated, provided the insured is in as good health as at the date of discharge or expiration of the grace period whichever is the later date, and so states in his application, still hold good.

The provisions that discharged service men are permitted to reinstate at any time within three calendar months following the month of discharge by merely paying the two months' premiums, without making a formal application or a statement as to health is also a still force.

The provisions for reinstatement do not protect a man until he actually reinstates. If he waits he may not be in as good health as he was at the time of discharge and consequently may not be able to secure reinstatement.

Don't put off reinstatement. Do it now.

PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL.

Many people who follow sporting news, believe that professional football will before long be established on as firm a basis as professional baseball.

Enormous crowds assemble to see the big college football game. Possibly the sport might pay on a professional basis. Many people, however, find it a difficult game to watch. The players are so tangled up most of the time that it takes a keen and practiced eye to tell what it happening or to discern the fine points of the sport, the study of which makes baseball as fascinating.

Also football is best played under the stimulus of cool fall weather, when outdoor contests are less pleasant for the spectators. People who will shiver through a few big college contests, might never provide the steady support that a professional game must have. And would professional players show any "pep," if they had to work in the enervating atmosphere of summer heat.

FAIR PRICE ORGANIZATIONS.

The campaign against H. C. of L. has now reached the point where many communities are being canvassed to enroll the people who are willing to cooperate actively in fighting high prices and extravagance.

Boycotting honest dealers who are doing their best to check prices, will accomplish nothing. But discouraging extravagance and questioning prices may accomplish much.

If the public pays high prices cheerfully and without objection, jobbers and retailers supply the demand accordingly. If the public enters serious objection to prices, producers see that they must content themselves with closer margins and simplified styles. They should not be encouraged however to cheapen the quality of goods.

SPIRITUALISTIC INVESTIGATION.

In former years the people who became interested in spiritualistic investigation were largely of a simple-minded and confiding type. Many of them were credulous, easily misled by alleged mediums who had a vivid imagination and ready guessing powers.

During recent years many scientific men have taken up this form of study. Some of them believe they have had genuine spirit messages. Among them is Sir Oliver Lodge, whose lectures are drawing great crowds in this country.

The reported message of spirits seem often to be too trifling to be characteristic of the friends who have passed on. Yet the subject is of profound interest, worthy of the most scientific investigation. If additional proof can be established of life beyond the grave, it will comfort many aching hearts.

AGRICULTURAL COURSES

Nearly fifty per cent of all the men actually in training under direction of the Federal Board of Vocational Education in district No. 6, comprising the three states of Alabama, Mississippi Louisiana, are enrolled in courses in agriculture in the various schools of the district.

This settles the fears expressed by many a year ago that, upon their return from the army, the men would desert the farm for city life. In a district where practically eighty per cent of the people come from rural communities, the men are realizing that scientific agriculture offers as great opportunities for success a are to be found in any line.

The largest group of agricultural students in the district is at the Mississippi Agricultural college, where more than three hundred disabled men are enrolled in agricultural courses. As many of the men have a very limited education, special classes have been organized to give them instruction in elementary school subjects in addition to their agricultural work.

The disabled boys have not been slow to realize that a year or two at a good agricultural college, with all expenses paid by Uncle Sam, is an offer not to be slightingly turned down, and many are taking advantage of this first opportunity they have had in their lives to receive vocational training in scientific agriculture.

When their courses are completed they will not be able to overcome the handicap they suffered on account of their physical disability, but they will be enabled to carry on successfully in a line of work which constitutes the chief occupation of the people of the district.

The Montreal water works employes have been on a strike, but as war time prohibition in Canada is over, a good many people were not inconvenienced.

Well anyway when they enlarge the political committee by taking in a lot of new members. they don't have to provide any more cuspadors.

The people who growl so about having to make out income tax blanks, can always avoid this bother by giving their property to the poor.

Towns are urged to plant fruit trees along the public roads. So far the kids are not reported to be opposing the plan.

One reason why more buildings are not put up, is that a lot of people persist in using their hammers for knocking.

OHIO'S RECESSING LEGISLATURE.
Editor of the Advocate—Many honest voters are in a quandary to tell whether the sins of the Ohio legislature consist more largely of omission or commission.

It has resurrected virtually the Warnes law with many added, objectionable features. As an apology for this bill, members say it was presented by the joint tax committee and they did not give it much consideration. It seems that the dominant reason urged by the committee for its adoption was that the county auditors of Ohio would be derelict in their sworn duty when candidates for re-election. This certainly is an unjust reflection upon the integrity of the county auditors. Whether this insinuation would apply to the re-election of the general assembly, we don't care to venture an opinion.

As to its omissible sins, we need not look beyond its dwadling with the subject of taxation.

Capable and efficient men should be elected to the legislature so we would never hear the question, "Who makes laws, the lobbies or the general assembly."

The Advocate's Melting Pot

It was just the sort of dinner and evening to make a man think of every single one of his past sins, and of all the others that he intended to commit if he lived.—Kipling.

A Welcome One.

Spring hovers just around the turn.
The winter's almost done;
And goodness knows, we surely yearn
To see our favorite sun.

A Legitimate Excuse.

Aunt Ca'line says: T'other day I were in at Ab Scond's an' Ab's wife, Gotta, were ofile bizzy a-writing a letter. She looked up as I went in an' says she, "Ca'line, you'll have to excuse me while I finish this up as I want little Ab to take it out an' male it," she says. So pretty soon Ab took it an' went out. Yesterday I went over there again an' Gotta were a-mending little Ab's cote an' land sake! if she didn't come acrost the vurry letter which she had gave him to male. "Good gracious, Ab!" says she. "Why didn't you male this as I told you to?" she says. "Well," says he. "I were a-going to an' then the boys come along an' wanted me to go play so I thought I'd give it to Mr. Still to male 'cause he goes to the postoffice every day," he says. "Well," says his maw, unpatient like. "Why didn't you give it to him then?" she says. "Why," says he, cold-like, "because he were entirely out o' site afore I seen him," says he.

They're Expensive.

Timmons says that while he doesn't undervalue his wife, he never realized the difference between value and cost until after he was married.

A Pleasant Time Was Had By Many.

A number of friends attended the funeral to pay their last respects, but many did not know he was dead until after the funeral services.—Ft. Pierce Tribune.

They probably thought it was just a charade or something.

Did You Know

That castings made of electrically refined steel are better able to withstand the stress of a sudden shock and have a higher tensile strength? They are also less liable to a change in internal structure due to crystalization when intermittent load is applied than steel refined in any other type of furnace. In 1910 there were ten electric furnaces in the United States and 104 elsewhere in the world. This ratio diminished to such an extent that in 1917 there were 100 in the United States against 250 elsewhere. The furnaces installed in this country are of larger average size than those in Europe and so the relative production of electrically refined steel is greater here than would be indicated by the number of furnaces.

Married Strangers

A powerful story dealing with a problem being worked out in thousands of American homes to-day—that of the husband and wife who find they grow apart while the man was off to war.

LXII.—The Chance Acquaintance.

Keitha pleaded a headache as an excuse for not accompanying her mother-in-law and Anita to a tea that afternoon. She wanted to go down to the beach with no companion than the sea and try to think her way out of the muddle that confronted her.

It was obvious that Anita had not yet learned that the conversation in the garden had been overheard and Keitha felt the hypocrisy of the whole situation very keenly. Her every instinct was to depart from under the Bennett roof and yet she shrank from the debecle which would ensue.

She saw Anita and her mother off in the car and watched until Anita's geranium hat had disappeared with vividly insistent reluctance in the distance. Then she went to her room and changed into a satin sport costume and a summery hat and went down the garden steps to the beach. She was learning to love California and the charming native custom of living beside the sea within motoring distance of a large city. She thought with a shudder of repugnance of the soot-powdered snow-filled streets of home, of the turgid slush at the crossings and the drab buildings that cut the line of a sky as filmed and pale as the eye of an octogenarian. The warmth and vivid beauty of the Western coast was rousing an unexpected sensuous strain.

She was sitting in a corner of a sun-warmed stone bench facing the sea, lulled by its insistent monotone, the eternal accentless voice of its blue waters, lazily putting off the moment when she must face the problem for which she had sought solitude, when she became aware, in an absent fashion, that another woman was strolling slowly along the beach close to the water and regarding her intently.

Presently the newcomer turned abruptly and came across the sands to the beach against the sea wall where Keitha sat.

She was slim and very chic in a foreign fashion. Before she spoke Keitha knew that she was French.

"Pardon, Madame," she said with a charming accent, "I am weary. May I sit here beside you?"

"Please do," Keitha replied quickly. "This is not a private beach—or bench," she added with a smile.

"No?" the other girl—she was about Keitha's age—opened great dark eyes whose curling lashes swept the intense pallor of her cheeks, "I thought—I was told—that this was the abode of one M'sieur Bennett.

"That is the Bennett home yonder," replied Keitha, waving her hand toward the grey villa on the hill above them," and the garden which runs to the sea wall belongs to the house."

The French girl looked upward with an appreciation which was obviously appraising.

"But it is tres charmante," she murmured. "We have many such residences in the south of my country at Nice and the Riviera, but you," she shrugged her slim shoulders disdainfully," you live only in California."

"You have travelled much in the United States?" asked Keitha politely.

"Mais oui—much. And II am going further—oh so far—through India."

"But why come to America to reach India? Isn't it a long and weary journey?"

The girl gave her a flashing smile.

"I have come to America—and California—to see my sweetheart."

Tomorrow—Confidence.

Carrying a Ton a Mile for less than a Cent

Freight rates have played a very small part in the rising cost of living.

Other causes—the waste of war, under-production, credit inflation—have added dollars to the cost of the necessities of life, while freight charges have added only cents.

The average charge for hauling a ton of freight a mile is less than a cent.

A suit of clothing that sold for $30 before the war was carried 2,265 miles by rail from Chicago to Los Angeles for 16½ cents.

Now the freight charge is 22 cents and the suit sells for $50.

The cost of the suit has increased 20 dollars.

The freight on it has increased only 5¼ cents.

Other transportation charges enter into the cost of the finished article—carrying the wool to the mills and the cloth to the tailors—but these other charges amount to but a few cents more.

A given unit of any commodity will buy more transportation now than it ever did before in the history of the country. A ton of steel or a bushel of wheat will buy more transportation now than ever before.

Walker D. Hines
Dir. Gen'l of Railroads

The $10 pair of shoes that used to sell for $5 goes from the New England factory to the Florida dealer for a freight charge of 5⅔ cents—only one cent more than the pre-war rate.

Beef pays only two-thirds of a cent a pound freight from Chicago to New York.

American freight rates are the lowest in the world.

HAD TERRIBLE COUGH IN BED 3 YEARS

In 3 weeks, she was out on the street again, feeling fine.

"In 1916, I had la grippe, followed by pneumonia which left me with a severe cough. I coughed constantly from morning till night, and then would wake up in the night and cough and choke. I lost flesh and my appetite was very poor. I doctored with a specialist for over a year, and had several other doctors, but got worse instead of better. Last winter I was bed-ridden, had chills and fever and got so weak I could not sit up in bed 5 minutes without fainting.

"In February, 1919, I started on Milks Emulsion. I was then in bed, but in 3 weeks, I was able to be up and on the streets. Just think of it! For 3 years I have been a physical wreck, in bed most of the time, and Milks Emulsion had brought me out in wonderful shape. My friends all tell me how well I'm looking, for they didn't expect me to be living today."—Miss M. Robeson, 1003 Opelousas St., Algiers, La.

In thousands of just such cases, Milks Emulsion has brought the same wonderful relief and improvement. It costs nothing to try.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, promotes appetite and puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. It helps build up flesh and strength, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are usually relieved in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Guaranteed by W. A. Erman, T. J. Evans, West End Pharmacy.

The Children and Families. 2-3-1tx

Our Boys and Girls

It used to be said, if a child habitually kept it's mouth open, that it had a foolish look and they let it go at that. Nowadays persons are quick to recognize the fact that such a child needs medical aid and, perhaps, surgical treatment. The nasal passages, through which it should breathe, are abstructed, perhaps by adenoids.

Nearly everybody has one or more on some part of the body that is ordi- "birth marks," though it be only a mole narily covered. A conspicuous birth mark on face, neck or arms should be removed by cautery, by the electric needle, or by "multiple scarification" with a knife of many parallel blades, and the time to do this is in childhood, when rapid growth of tissue tends soon to obliterate the scars of surgical wounds. If the baby is a girl she will thank you for this later in life.

If you do not want your boy or little girl to have bow legs, you will not try to teach them to walk too soon. The bones of the legs, like those of other parts of the body, are easily bent out of proper shape in infancy. The exercise most useful for a baby's body and leg development, is creeping. Creeping will do more than anything else to develop a baby's chest, her arms, her shoulders and hips, and will strengthen the muscles in the back and down her spine. So let your baby creep sometime before you make any attempt to teach it to walk.

LET "DANDERINE" SAVE YOUR HAIR

Get rid of every bit of that ugly dandruff and stop falling hair

To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter for a few cents, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After several applications all dandruff usually goes and hair stops coming out. Every hair in your head soon shows new life, vigor, brightness, thickness and more color.

Objective in Exercise.

Many look upon systematic exercise as a waste of time and many women say that her housework is all the exercise she needs. If the housework has an object aside from the mere finishing of the job, it is doing good as exercise, but if it is considered as work and work only, it does no good.

The mental attitude of most house wives, then, is that housework is work, whereas the woman who is exercising has an object in improving her health and beauty. This will show one that there is a mental side of the question of exercise as well as the physical side. The motive which we have uppermost in our mind is the one which affects us most physically.

If you are systematic you will map out the housework for the day, no matter what it may be, so that you will go through it without thinking what there is to do next when you have finished each task. In this planning do not fail to include the constitutional, or the exercise hour. If you value your good health, your good temper and your beauty, take indoor exercise as well as outdoor.

Perhaps you cannot have a gymnasium, in the expensive use of the word, but you can easily rig up a few ropes and maybe add a dumbell and a broom stick to the exercising paraphernalia. Do not overdo in exercising so that you will be come exhausted instead of invigorated and do not forget that your household duties will act as exercises for health and beauty if you only look at it in the right way.

Neck and Throat Exercises.

There are exercises for the woman who is not satisfied with the condition of her neck and throat that cannot but improve these beauty features Lie flat on your back on a bed or couch, with the head hanging far over the side. Then bring the head up and over until the chin touches the chest. Repeat until tired This will develop the muscles along the front of the throat.

Next lie face down, with the head still hanging far over, and bring it back and forward as far as possible. Be sure to do this vigorously and to the full limit, until you can stretch your head up andback. Repeat until tired and you will develop the muscles along the back of the neck.

Again, stand erect and twist the head first to one side and then the other. Stretch as far in each direction as possible. Now take a reclining pasition and elevate the body so that it rests on the head and heels. Rest your hand on the floor to keep you balance, then let the body sway from side to side so that the greater part of it's weight rests on the side of the neck. This will fill out the hollows in the sides of the neck.

Sit before a desk or table with the hands resting firmly in front of you Lay your forehead on your two hands and press forward and down with the head as vigorously as possible. Now turn slightly to the right, with the elbow on a table. Rest the right side of the head on the right hand and press sideways and down with the head. Do the same with the left side of the head and with the hand.

Wall Street.

New York, Feb. 3.—Stocks were only moderately unsettled at the opening of today's session, although the foreign exchange situation threatened to assume more serious aspects as indicated by another break in the rate on London. Apart from 1 to 2 points recessions in Crucible Steel, General Motors, Marine Preferred, Royal Dutch, California Packing and Miami Copper, reactions were limited to fractions. Rails were steady at the outset, but eased within the first half hour, when selling pressure extended to the general list, supplementing many initial declines.

Further collapse of foreign exchange and prospects of higher money rates, gave the shorts a free field for their operations during the forenoon. Except in rails, in which declines were normal, there was no incentive to support the market. Weakness concentrated in the high priced shares particularly General Motors, Crucible Steel, American Woolen, Endicott-Johnson, Mexican Petroleum, and Motor Specialties at extreme losses of 3 to 7 points. Low priced oils also suffered additional impairment and bonds including Liberty issues were lower. Call money opened at 14 per cent.

Chicago Grain Review.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Although sensational new breaks in sterling exchange induced some scattered selling of corn today, the corn market showed but little disposition to give way in sympathy. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to 3-8c lower, with May $1.35 5-8 to $1.35 3-4, and July, $1.32 1-2 to 1.32 3-4 were followed by a rally all around to above yesterday's finish.

Oats held steady with corn. After opening 1-8c off to a shade advance, including May at 83 1-2c, the market hardened a trifle.

Weakness of exchange affected provisions more than grain. Lard in particular was somewhat depressed.

RURAL CARRIERS QUIT AT RATE OF 50 A DAY

Washington, Feb. 3.—Rural mail carriers are resigning at the rate of 50 a day, W. D. Brown, representing the National Rural Mail Carriers association told the senate postal commission yesterday, adding that the service faced severe difficulties unless financial relief was accorded to employes soon. He asked a permanent increase of approximately 60 per cent over the present base pay of $1200 per annum, with a minimum base of $1,920. The increased annual expense would be about $78,000,000, he said. The carriers do not earn as much as farm laborers at the present time, Mr. Brown declared.

WANTS BIG FUND TO STOP LIQUOR TRADE

Washington, Feb. 3.—Secretary Glass yesterday asked congress for $2,000,000 for use in stopping the smuggling of liquor into the United States. A statement from the division of customs accompanying the request said that because of meagre facilities for coping with the situation, "the quantity of liquor seized was infinitesmal in comperison with the quantity actually smuggled into this country."

The custom service reported that it was charged with the duty of preventing the smuggling of contraband liquors present forces at all ports would have to be augmented during the next year.

Every vessel arriving from foreign ports will be thoroughly searched, the report said, while crews would be under survillance while their ships are in port.

Mounted inspectors will be placed on duty along the Mexican and Canadian borders in sufficient numbers to patrol hundreds of highways, paths and streams that afford easy means of egress for smugglers."

CASHIER BY DAY AND SOCIETY BUD AT NIGHT

Chicago, Feb. 3—The search for "Blue eyed Monda Rose," dashing bud of the north shore society set by night and $25 a week cashier in a wholesale leather house by day, has turned to Canada.

Monda Rose whose day time and baptismal name is Rose Schweiburg, has been missing for several days, and investigation of her books at the leather house is said to have disclosed a shortage of $10,000.

Her employers announced yesterday they have received a telegram from the missing cashier filed at Winnepeg, Canada stating that she was about to be married in Canada.

While police are searching for the girl there the leather company has caused Monda Rose's $1500 saddle horse $2 0000 automobile and the furnishings of her luxurious apartment to be seized. Her mother, who works for her living in a factory, told police today that the girl had gone to work when 12 years old to help support the family.

SHEARER ON JOB BUT HAS NO HEADQUARTERS

Columbus Feb. 3.—Ohio's first prohibition enforcement officer, attorney J A Shearer, of Columbus, assumed his new duties yesterday without headquarters and without his staff of seven promised assistants. But he was on the job just the same and anticipating that authorities at Washington will approve in a few days one of a number of office suites which he has submitted and announced the personnel of his limited staff.

Thomas E Stone, district supervising agent of the Ohio-Potomac district, was also in Columbus after a swing around his district of Ohio West Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

"Very little violation is going on in Ohio, but there is some 'moonshining' going on. "Mr. Stone said Agents in West Virginia are finding plenty to do."

ASK DEALERS TO CUT PROFITS ON CLOTHING

Washington, Feb. 3—Insistence that all interests engaged in producing men's clothing shave their profits by agreement in order to force down prices is understood to have marked a conference behind closed doors yesterday between department of justice officials and representatives of all elements of the industry. Cotton and wool growers, manufacturers and wholesale and retail dealers were represented at the meeting with Assistant Attorney General Figg, in charge of the lower price campaign.

A tentative program drafted by the department the basis of which was not disclosed was said to have been laid before the meeting by Mr Figg together with the views of Attorney General Palmer.

ARE YOU LOSING YOUR GRIP ON HEALTH?

Physician's Prescription to Increase The Health and Strength of Anaemic, Rundown Men and Women

As a result of the tremendous strain of modern living so many people find that the nerve cells have become devitalized, the whole system weakened and thousands of men and women are today losing their grip on health simply because their blood is thinning out and possibly starving through lack of iron. It is through iron in the red coloring matter of the blood that life sustaining oxygen enters the body and enables the blood to change food into living tissue, muscle and brain. If people would only keep their blood filled with strength-giving iron by taking Nuxated Iron when they feel weak and run-down they might readily build up their red blood corpuscles and quickly become stronger and healthier in every way. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Nuxated Iron will increase the strength of weak, nervous, "run-down" men and women in two weeks' time in many instances. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. Nuxated Iron is on sale at all good druggists.

VICTIM OF FATE'S HARSHNESS

Sad Story of Luther K. Linkenhooper Would Move Almost Any One to Tears.

"As I was coming to town just now," said the motorist, "I saw a peculiar sight; a thin, wild-eyed man, clad in a red-and-blue bedquilt, perched in a treetop and every now and then crying 'Honk! Honk!' to the unbridled glee of a gang of men and boys assembled below."

"That was Luther K. Linkenhooper, by the symptoms," replied the landlord of the tavern at Grudge. "He accumulated three second-hand Hootin' Nanny cars; one he traded for, one his brother-in-law wished onto him and one was left him by will. None of them were of any account, and so he set to work to take 'em all apart and make one good one out of the three. The task was too much for his mind, and after he had made about five from the ruins of the three and still had a lot of stuff left, and none of 'em would move a muscle, he began to chatter, then to yell, and finally took to his bed a-jibbering. Once in a while he escapes from his relatives and gets out and cuts some such caper as you saw. He thinks he is a Hootin' Nanny himself."

"But, great guns! Even a car of the name you mention does not wear a bedquilt and climb trees!"

"Mebby not. But it would if it was as crazy at Luther is."—Kansas City Star.

PRIZE CAST-OFF CLOTHING

Peculiar Whim of "Fashion" in Virgin Islands Puzzling to United States Marines.

United States marines garrisoning these new possessions of Uncle Sam can't understand the fashions affected by the natives, writes a St. Thomas (Virgin Islands) correspondent. Just why a negro or Cha-Cha Indian should wear an overcoat when the thermometer stands 100 in the shade still mystifies the "sea soldiers."

Many of the marines down here have seen service in the neighboring island of Haiti, where clothes are the least consideration of the natives. But as soon as the new arrival reaches these shores he is approached by natives begging for his cast-off clothing.

For some strange reason the native Virgin islander believes in wearing every article of clothing he can lay hands on. All American holidays are now celebrated by the natives, who spend the day parading about the streets, some of them wearing overcoats, capes, two or more pairs of trousers and a red bandana handkerchief about the neck. Also they frequently adorn themselves with the horns of cows or oxen attached to the head just in front of the ears.

Immortal "Mermaid."
She was a "famous woman," because she was a "famous" inn that served "famous" men. That was enough for the Mermaid. She was named after an enchanting lady of the vasty deep, who is a woman to her girdle and a fish to her feet. Her figure was on the signboard of the famous inn, in Friday street, London. Pass with hasty glance the bar in front—the parlor behind of the blackened roof and polished tables—taproom on the left—low doorways, winding passages—and you have come to the inn parlor. This is the Mermaid! And the men sitting there? Ben Jonson, Fletcher, Beaumont, Carew, Donne and—Shakespeare. Shakespeare is roaring over his dog's nose, and Ben Jonson over his canary. Oh, listen to the wit-combats between Shakespeare and Ben Jonson! Mermaid, dear "famous woman," why were you not a twin?

Varying Colors of Diamonds.
Each of the five mines owned and worked by the great De Beers company in the Kimberley district produces diamonds with well-marked characteristics. The rich Kimberley mine yields a good percentage of white and many yellow stones. Dutoitspan mine is famed for its large yellow diamonds. At Bultfontein small white and spotted stones are common. From the Wesselton mine come many beautiful deep orange colored diamonds, while the De Beers mine shows a good percentage of tinted yellow and brown stones. The Premier mine (Transvaal) yields a large number of "off-colored" stones. The Cullinan diamond was of exceptional purity. From the Jagersfontein mine in the Orange Free State the famous bluish-white stones are derived. The diamonds found in German Southwest Africa are small and yellowish in color.

Win Fight on Yellow Fever.
In 1916 the Rockefeller foundation sent a sanitary commission to Ecuador for the purpose of arranging with the Ecuadorian government to take the responsibility of eradicating yellow fever from Guayaquil. The proposal was accepted June 10, 1918, when a celebrated bacteriologist arrived and began his work. He succeeded in discovering the germ which causes yellow fever, his investigations promising to produce not only a preventive, but also a cure for this malady.

The "Lower Calling."
The Principal—Miss Brown, I wish you would give up this idea of marriage. The training of children is a far higher calling than the mere bearing of them.

The Teacher—Yes, Miss Matthews; but if it weren't for those of the lower calling, whom would you have to train?—Life.

BUILT HIM UP WONDERFULLY

"My son, Rollie, suffered from a general rundown condition. He was nervous and weak and had a very poor appetite," declared Mrs. Colman, who tells how her son was wonderfully helped through the use of Earle's Hypo-Cod, she said:

"He now has a splendid appetite, is not nervous and Earle's Hypo-Cod has strengthened and built him up wonderfully. He can eat anything he wants to now and nothing ever hurts his stomach. He feels so much stronger and has a much better color. I know it is a good medicine as the formula is on the package and anyone that reads it cannot help but know it is good." continued Mres. Colman, of 43 N. Sandusky St., Columbus, Ohio, whose son is employed by the city water works.

ENDS LIFE OF SUFFERING

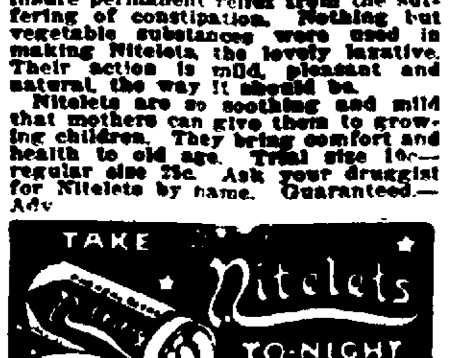

NITELETS BRING RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION.

It's hard to say which is worse—headache, lassitude and stomach pains from constipation and indigestion, or griping pains and weakness from violent remedies.

There's no need to have your system torn between these two extremes. It's dangerous to let poisonous waste back up in the intestines and soak up in the blood. It gets carried to every part of the body, and headaches, dizziness, flashes before the eyes, bad breath, nervousness and excessive sweating result.

In making Nitelets, the Koman Tablet Company knew that natural soothing action was the only way to insure permanent relief from the suffering of constipation. Nothing but vegetable substances were used in making Nitelets, the lovely laxative. Their action is mild, pleasant and natural, the way it should be.

Nitelets are so soothing and mild that mothers can give them to growing children. They bring comfort and health to old age. Trial size 10c—regular size 25c. Ask your druggist for Nitelets by name. Guaranteed—Adv
